- RESPONDENT-

Statement of Facts

1. Wright Ltd ("Wright"), the CLAIMANT, is a highly specialized manufacturer of fan-blades for jet engines, incorporated in Equatoriana.
2. SantosD KG ("SantosD"), the RESPONDENT, is a medium sized manufacturer of jet engines, incorporated in Mediterraneo. Until 2010 CLAIMANT and RESPONDENT were both subsidiaries of Engineering International SA, a multinational based in Oceania and active in various fields of engineering, in particular turbines of all sorts. Following the financial crisis in 2008 and the need to restructure its financing, Engineering International SA divested itself of several of its previously held subsidiaries to reduce its debts and to concentrate on its core business. In June 2010 CLAIMANT was sold to CLAIMANT's present parent company, which was then renamed Wright Holding PLC. RESPONDENT was sold one month later to SpeedRun, a Private Equity Fund.

3. At the time of their sale in 2010 CLAIMANT and RESPONDENT were in negotiations to jointly “develop” a new fan blade for the next generation of RESPONDENT’s high-spec jet engine, JE 76/TL14b. The fan blade was to be based on CLAIMANT’s newest model of swept fan blades, the TRF 192, which had been released few months earlier. The blades were to be included in the main fan at the engine inlet which accelerates the air rearwards. The improved fan blade, which was called TRF 192-I, was supposed to lead to a considerable noise reduction in RESPONDENT’s new JE 76/TL 14b engine. The objective was to reduce the noise emitted by 3db, which would make the JE 76/TL 14b quieter than any other available jet engine and would also provide for optimum engine core protection.
4. The engine was to be developed for use in the newest version of the signature executive line 100 jet of Earhart SP (“Earhart”), a world-wide operating aircraft manufacturer for medium size and range passenger and business jets. Earhart has a significant market share in this segment of the market, in particular for business jets. Earhart’s corporate philosophy emphasizes the sustainability of its developed aircraft. RESPONDENT had been particularly keen on the contract with Earhart since it would enable RESPONDENT to showcase its newly developed jet engine via a prestigious world renowned aircraft manufacturer.
5. The TRF 192-I was to be developed jointly under the technical leadership of CLAIMANT. RESPONDENT agreed to buy at least 2,000 of the swept fan blades in the first year. At the time the parties entered into the contract the final development and production costs for the new blade were not yet certain. Nevertheless, RESPONDENT insisted on fixing a maximum price to be paid, in order for it to be able to offer itself a price for the engine to Earhart (file note Ms Maryam Filmas, production engineer, 1 July 2010, Claimant’s Exhibit C 1). To reflect the uncertainty as to the actual production cost for the blades and to share the risks resulting from that the parties agreed on a flexible price structure for the fan blade. The purpose of this flexible price structure was to ensure, as far as possible, that both parties would generate a profit from the overall transaction and that RESPONDENT could already at that stage offer the engine at a largely fixed price to Earhart. Furthermore, RESPONDENT insisted on a price in US$ though CLAIMANT’s production costs would be incurred in Equatorianian Denars (EQD).
6. In their Development and Sales Contract of 1 August 2010 (Claimant’s Exhibit C 2) RESPONDENT ordered 2,000 swept fan blades, model TRF 192-I, from CLAIMANT for a price per blade of between US$ 9,975 to US$ 13,125. The price range in Section 4 of the Development and Sales Contract was determined on the basis of an estimate by CLAIMANT about the likely cost per blade to which a certain profit was to be added. This profit was to decrease with the increase of the costs. Given a production cost of US$ 9,500 per blade a profit of 5% would be added but that profit component in the price would reduce to 0% if the unit-cost per blade was US$ 13,125 or higher. US$ 13,125 was the maximum price RESPONDENT would be required to pay per blade under normal circumstances. According to the agreed risk sharing structure of the agreement CLAIMANT had to bear the risk that the production cost would be actually above that maximum price, subject to the ordinary hardship defence.
7. CLAIMANT considered the risk to be minor that the contract would result in a loss due to actual costs of more than US$ 13,125. Given the recent experience with the TRF 192 CLAIMANT estimated that the production costs per blade would be around EQD 20,000 (Equatorianian Denar). On the basis of the then prevailing exchange rate the costs in US$ would have been around US$ 10,000. The exchange rate had largely stayed the same for the last three years fluctuating between US$ 1 = EQD 2.00 and US$ 1 = EQD 2.02.
8. During the negotiations of the Development and Sales Contract RESPONDENT had already indicated that it might additionally need the same number of clamps connecting the blades to the shaft of the fans. Originally, RESPONDENT had intended to purchase the clamps from another producer. When it turned out after the Development and Sales contract had been concluded that those clamps were not suitable and it became clear that RESPONDENT would have to buy the clamps from CLAIMANT, an addendum was added to the contract and signed by the parties. In the addendum the parties agreed that the clamps were to be delivered on a cost basis. Furthermore, upon RESPONDENT's insistence and deviating from the rules applicable to the price calculation for the fan blades, the parties agreed on a fixed exchange rate for the cost of the clamps.

9. The parties were successful in improving the TRF 192 so that the new TRF 192-I gave the required noise reduction. CLAIMANT delivered the fan blades and the clamps on 14 January 2015 to RESPONDENT as per the contract and attached invoices for both goods. RESPONDENT accepted the delivery and after inspection confirmed that the swept fan blades, model TRF 192-I, and the clamps were in conformity with the contract (Claimant's Exhibit C 3).
10. Unfortunately, due to a mistake in CLAIMANT's accounting department, the invoice for the fan blades attached to the delivery was wrong. Instead of providing for a price of US$ 22,723,800 which was due under the Section 4 of the Development and Sales Contract, the invoice was only for US$ 20,438,560. That was due to the fact that Mr Lee, the person responsible for creating the invoice, had first prepared the invoice for the clamps using the fixed exchange rate as under the addendum. When he then prepared the invoice for the fan blades, he applied the same fixed exchange rate, overlooking that for the price calculation for the fan blades the current exchange rate was to be applied (Claimant's Exhibit C 4).
11. Trying to take advantage of this obvious mistake RESPONDENT immediately paid the amount invoiced and informed CLAIMANT about the payments made. On 15 January 2015 Mr Cyril Lindbergh, RESPONDENT's Chief Financial Officer, emailed Ms Amelia Beinhorn, the COO of CLAIMANT, internally responsible for the TRF 192-I project, that he had effected payment of US$ 20,438,560 and US$ 183,343.28 to the CLAIMANT's account at the Equatoriana National Bank (Claimant's Exhibit C 3) for the fan blades and clamps respectively.
12. Immediately after receiving the email, Ms Beinhorn contacted Mr Lindbergh to clarify the mistake and to point out that on the basis of the formula agreed upon in the contract the price per fan blade was US$ 10,941.90, resulting in an overall purchase price for the 2,000 fan blades of US$ 22,723,800 (Claimant's Exhibit C 5). RESPONDENT in verifying the price and making the transfer had applied the wrong exchange rate, assuming that the fixed exchange rate relevant for the clamps produced under the addendum was also relevant for the fan blades. It is uncontested that CLAIMANT incurred costs in the amount of EQD 19,586 per fan blade. On the basis of the correct exchange rate at the time of production the price per blade in US$ was 10,941.90 and not US$ 9,744.28 as assumed by REPONDENT on the basis of the wrong exchange rate used also in our invoice.
13. On 29 January 2015 US$ 20,336,367.20 was credited to the CLAIMANT's account at the Equatoriana National Bank. On 1 February 2015 Ms Beinhorn notified Mr Lindbergh by email that CLAIMANT was demanding the outstanding payment of US$ 2,387,430.80 (Claimant's Exhibit C 6) by 4 March 2015.
14. In his reply of 2 February 2015 Mr Lindbergh denied that any additional purchase price payment was due (Claimant's Exhibit C 7). He reiterated RESPONDENT'S view, that the price per fan blade was only US$ 9,744.28 insisting again on the application of the fixed exchange rate set out in the addendum to the Development and Sales Contract, for converting the cost incurred by CLAIMANT in EQD into US$.

15. Furthermore, Mr Lindbergh stated that RESPONDENT was not aware of any reason why US$ 102,192.80 had been deducted from the US$ 20,438,560 it had transferred.
16. An inquiry at the Equatoriana National Bank by Ms Beinhorn revealed that the Equatoriana Central Bank had investigated the payment for money laundering as per Regulation ML/2014C. An 0.5% levy was deducted as per Section 11 of the Regulation (Claimant's Exhibit C 8).
17. In line with the requirements in Section 21, CLAIMANT tried to resolve the dispute amicably. CLAIMANT made several offers combining a reduction in the sales prices for the 2,000 fan blades directly covered by the Development and Sales Agreement with a firm commitment for further fan blades to be delivered within the next five years. RESPONDENT, however, insisted on a sales price of US$ 9,744.28 per fan blade.

Nomination of Arbitrator

18. In accordance with the arbitration clause in the contract and Article 4.4 of the CAM-CCBC Rules we appoint Ms Martha Maracanã, 41 Azteka Lane, Oceanside, Equatoriana, for confirmation by the Secretariat. As Ms Maracanã is not on the List of Arbitrators her résumé is attached.

Legal Evaluation

Jurisdiction

19. The Arbitral Tribunal has jurisdiction over the dispute by virtue of the arbitration agreement contained in Section 21 of the contract between CLAIMANT and RESPONDENT [Claimant's Exhibit C 1]. The clause provides as follows:

Section 21: Dispute Resolution

All disputes shall be settled amicably and in good faith between the parties. If no agreement can be reached each party has the right to initiate arbitration proceedings within 60 days after the failure of the negotiation to have the dispute decided by an arbitrator. The arbitration shall be conducted under the Rules of the Center for Arbitration and Mediation of the Chamber of Commerce Brazil-Canada ("CAM-CCBC") and in line with international arbitration practice.

The Arbitral Tribunal shall consist of three arbitrators, appointed in accordance with the Rules of CAM-CCBC. The Parties may select arbitrators who are not on the List of Arbitrators maintained by CAM-CCBC. The President of the Arbitral Tribunal shall be appointed by the President of CAM-CCBC.

The seat of arbitration shall be Vindobona, Danubia.

The arbitration proceedings shall be conducted in English.

Merits

20. The CLAIMANT is entitled to the full payment of the purchase price in accordance with Articles 62, 53, 54 CISG.
21. The parties had agreed on a specific method to calculate the purchase price as set out in Section 4 of the Development and Sales Contract of 1 August 2010 (Claimant's Exhibit C 1). In the aircraft industry joint developments of parts with a certain type of risk sharing are normal. In the present case, however, RESPONDENT insisted on fixing a maximum price at a time when relevant factors for determining a price, in particular the costs incurred for the production per blade could only be estimated. Consequently, the parties agreed on a price formula which fulfilled three objectives. First, it ensured that RESPONDENT – in the absence of unforeseen extraordinary circumstances – would not have to pay more than US$ 13,125 per blade. Second, it ensured that below that price CLAIMANT would at least cover its costs and make some profit. Third, it contained an incentive for CLAIMANT to keep the costs as low as possible, as its profit would increase with the decreasing of the costs. A comparable provision had already been used by the parties during their earlier co-operations when both were still subsidiaries of Engineering International SA.

22. To attain the second objective of the price calculation, it is necessary that the actual costs are reimbursed as they are incurred. Thus, if such costs are to be converted into US$ the current rate must be applied. By contrast RESPONDENT, trying to take advantage of the obvious calculation mistake in the first invoice, has based its determination of the price on the wrong and not tenable assumption that the Parties had agreed on a fixed exchange rate of US$ 1 = EQD 2.01. Such a fixed exchange rate was, however, only agreed for the clamps where the influence of the exchange rate was limited due to the much lower amount. It does not apply for the fan blades. CLAIMANT is paying all its employees in Equatorian Denars (EQD) and would not have agreed to be burdened with the full exchange rate risk for the full contract. Thus, the fixed exchange rate is limited to the items covered by the addendum. In the meantime, the US$ has fallen in comparison to the Equatorian Denar and the present exchange rate is US$ 1 = EQD 1.79.
23. Articles 53, 54 CISG entitle the seller, ie the CLAIMANT, to the full purchase price. The buyer has to bear any costs associated with payment of the purchase price. This includes any costs associated with administrative regulations. Therefore, the RESPONDENT has to bear the levy charged by the Financial Investigation Unit for investigating the purchase price payment for money laundering.

Statement of Relief sought:

On the basis of the above CLAIMANT requests the Arbitral Tribunal to:

1. order RESPONDENT to pay the still outstanding purchase price in the amount of US$ 2.285.240 and the bank charge in the amount of US$ 102,192.80.
2. order RESPONDENT to bear the costs of the arbitration.

Enclosures: Claimant's Exhibits C 1 – C 8

1 May 2010 Summary Notes

Meeting today with Celia Fang, Development Manager, SantosD KG, to discuss details about jointly improving our TRF 192 to a new swept fan blade TRF 192-I to be then produced by us for inclusion into SantosD's new engine JE 76/TL14b. TRF 192 series needs adjustment so that noise level in SantosD engine JE 76/TL14b will be reduced by 3db.

Agreed on the following basic principles for our cooperation in regard to development:

Fan blade to be developed on basis of TRF 192; IP rights in final product TRF 192-I remain with us. Both development units will regularly meet and transfer necessary data.

Once a week meeting via Zoom - both production teams

Fang insists that maximum price (subject to adjustment only in extraordinary unforeseeable circumstances) has to be fixed already in contract to allow SantosD to make a binding offer including a price for its engine to Earhart SP although the final production costs for the fan blades are not yet known.

To make determination of maximum price possible flexible price structure as for the purchase of the jointly improved fans TRF 163-I and TRF 150-II must be agreed on a "cost + basis" with risk sharing elements. Verify whether contractual provisions in one of the previous contracts can be used for our contract

SantosD insisted on pricing in US$. Our expenses in EQD will have to be converted but no major risk involved. Exchange rate should be around 2-1 and has been very stable over the last years.

CLAIMANT's EXHIBIT C 2

DEVELOPMENT AND SALES AGREEMENT

Whereas reduction of fuel consumption and noise emission are generally acknowledged objectives of all aircraft producers.

Whereas Earhart SP has recently specified the requirements for the engines for its newly developed signature executive line 100 business jet.

Whereas SantosD KG as one of the leading jet engine producers has decided to develop an engine fulfilling such requirements and to offer it to Earhart SP for incorporation into the new jet.

Whereas Wright Ltd, has recently presented to the market its TRF 192 swept fan blade for jet engines, which is presently the most advanced fan blade as far as consumption is concerned.

Whereas both parties agree that a modified version of the TRF 192, leading to further noise reduction, should be developed and incorporated into the new engine.

Whereas both parties have a joint interest in developing the fan blade together for incorporation into SantosD KG's new JE 76/TL14b engine and eventually into other engines.

Whereas Wright Ltd will then produce the newly developed fan blade and sell it at the agreed price to SantosD KG.

Whereas SantosD is planning to purchase within the next 5 years more than 600 further TRF 192-I fan blades in accordance with the provisions below or comparable provisions provided that the TRF 192-I complies with the specification set out in Annex I of this contract.

Collectively "the Parties"

Section 2 BACKGROUND

1. The Parties agree to jointly develop on the basis of the Seller's most recent TRF 192 fan blade an improved new version, the TRF 192-I, for inclusion into the Buyer's JE 76/TL14b jet engine to be used for the new Earhart signature executive line 100 business jet.
2. The SELLER undertakes, as part of its business, the subsequent manufacturing and delivery of the newly developed TRF 192-I swept fan blade.

3. The BUYER undertakes to purchase a minimum of at least 2,000 fan blades under this Agreement, expressing at the same time the firm intention to purchase further units in subsequent years.

Section 3 DELIVERY

1. The SELLER agrees to produce and deliver 2,000 TRF 192-I swept fan blades by 14 January 2015.

Section 4 PURCHASE PRICE

1. The purchase price is calculated on a cost-plus basis according to the following formula
 - Production Costs per blade $\leq$ 9,500 US\$: 9,975 US\$
 - Production Costs per blade: 9,500 – 10,500 US$: Costs + 475 US$ (5% of 9,500)
 - Production Costs per blade: 10,501 – 11,500 US$: Costs + 420 US$ (4% of 10,500)
 - Production Costs per blade: 11,501 – 12,000 US$: Costs + 345 US$ (3% of 11,500)
 - Production Costs per blade: 12,001 – 12,500 US$: Costs + 240 US$ (2% of 12,000)
 - Production Costs per blade: 12,501 – 13,000 US$: Costs + 125 US$ (1% of 12,500)
 - Production Costs per blade $\geq$ 13,125 US\$: 13,125 US\$

The minimum price per fan blade irrespective of production costs is US$ 9,975 while the maximum price to be charged per fan blade is US$ 13,125.

Should the production costs per fan blade exceed US$ 13,125 due to extraordinary unforeseeable circumstances and result in unbearable hardship for the Seller the Parties will enter into good faith negotiations to determine a price which is financially acceptable to both parties.

2. The price is due upon delivery of the fan blades and payment should be confirmed by the BUYER as soon as possible.
3. The BUYER will deposit the purchase price in full into the SELLER's account at the Equatorian National Bank, Ocean Promenade 3, Equatoriana, IBAN 1209 3456 6798; SWIFT EQXPL6. The bank charges for the transfer of the amount are to be borne by the BUYER.

Witness Statement Mario Lee

My name is Mario Lee, born 25 August 1989, in Oceanside, Equatoriana.

I have a degree in financial accounting from Good Hope College and have worked since 1 August 2014 in the accounting department of Wright Ltd.

On 9 January 2015 I was asked by Ms Beinhorn to prepare the two invoices for the fan blades and the clamps to be delivered to SantosD. In principle, my colleague Ms Kwang was responsible for the financial side of the contract. She had reported in sick on 29th December and in early January the date of her return was not yet predictable. Consequently, Ms Beinhorn had asked me to finalize the two invoices before I went for a long weekend to visit my parents the same evening. She had given me excel files with the costs incurred per fan blade and per clamp as well as Ms Kwang's binder concerning the blade project containing all correspondence and the Development and Sales Agreement.

I was under considerable time pressure. I had no knowledge about the whole transaction and it was the last working day before my holiday. First, I prepared the invoice for the clamps as the order for the clamps and a note that a fixed exchange rate had been agreed for them had been on top of Ms Kwang's binder. I took the costs as reported in the excel file and converted them on the basis of the fixed exchange rate of US$ 1 = EQD 2.01 as was stated in the addendum of the contract. When I prepared the invoice for the fan blades, I used the same exchange rate for the calculation of the price for the fan blades, not realizing that the main contract relating to the blades did not contain a fixed exchange rate but only the addendum relating to the clamps.

On 15 January 2015, my first working day after two days of holidays, Ms Beinhorn informed me about the mistake and asked me to prepare a correct invoice for the fan blades applying the current exchange rate of US$ 1 = EQD 1.79.

Re	Payment TRF 192-I
Dear Mr Lindbergh, I refer to your email from earlier today. I have realized that there has been a mix up in our accounting department with the invoice for the fan blades. Unfortunately, the price per fan blade has been calculated on the basis of the fixed exchange rate which we agreed for the clamps in the addendum to the contract of 24 October 2010. As per our contract negotiations and Section 4 of our Development and Sales Agreement the contract price is calculated on an actual cost plus profit basis. As you can see from the attached table the costs per fan blade amount to EQD 19,586. Multiplied with the current exchange rate, which is identical to that at the time of production of US$ 1 = EQD 1.79, the purchase price is US$ 10,941.90 per blade. Consequently, the full purchase price for the 2,000 blades amounts to US$22,723,800. I apologize for the mistake and have attached a corrected invoice for the fan blades. Please effect payment of an additional US$ 2,285,240 to our account. We will naturally bear all the additional costs which may result from that additional transfer. Re	Payment TRF 192-I
Dear Mr Lindbergh, We have not received the outstanding purchase price of US$ 2,285,240 from you. In addition, we just got confirmation from our bank that only US$ 20,336,367.20 was credited to our account. Therefore, we ask that the outstanding US$ 2,387,430.80 is deposited into our bank account by 4 March 2015. We would very much appreciate prompt payment. As you know we are presently in the final development phase of the TRF-305 fan for small engines which has put the usual strain on our liquidity. Re Payment TRF 192-I

Dear Ms Beinhorn,

We do not have any idea why only US$ 20,336,367.20 was credited to Wright's account at the Equatoriana National Bank. We did effect payment of US$ 20,438,560. We contacted our bank and the transfer was made to the bank account stipulated in the Development and Sales Agreement of 1 June 2010.

In regard to the purchase price for the swept fan blades TRF 192-I, your original invoice correctly reflected our contractual agreement. In the addendum to the contract we agreed on a fixed exchange rate of US$ 1 = EQ 2.01. When we negotiated the addendum the agreement on the fixed exchange rate pertained not only the clamps but the whole contract.

Applying that exchange rate to the costs of EQD 19,586 we arrive at a cost in US$ per blade of US$ 9,744.28, as correctly stated in your original invoice sent with the blades.

By contrast your "allegedly" corrected invoice of 15 January 2015 applies a wrong rate. We would have never agreed on a floating rate applying the current rate to convert your costs into US$. In our view, you had taken over the currency risk.

Sincerely,

Cyril Lindbergh

Dear Mr Forbes,

Please find attached the required power of attorney of Wright Ltd, the CLAIMANT in the above arbitration.

As correctly pointed out by you, the original power of attorney had been signed on behalf of Wright Holding PLC. It is the parent company of Wright Ltd and had originally approached me to prepare the claim in the arbitration. Notwithstanding that all important decisions are taken at the level of the Holding, for the sake of good order I have procured the attached power of attorney directly from Wright Ltd.

Moreover, the remainder of the Registration Fee has been paid. The lower amount was due to a mistake in my secretariat for which I apologize.

Could I ask you to now inform SantosD KG about our request for arbitration and take the necessary steps for the constitution of the Tribunal?

Sincerely yours,

Horace Fasttrack

- CLAIMANT -

Represented in this arbitration by Horace Fasttrack

- RESPONDENT -

Represented in this arbitration by Joseph Langweiler

Introduction

1. In its Statement of Claim, CLAIMANT presents a largely accurate picture of the facts. From such facts, CLAIMANT draws, however, completely wrong legal conclusions.
2. The claims raised by CLAIMANT in this arbitration are neither admissible nor justified. RESPONDENT has fulfilled all its payment obligations under the contract.

Nomination of Arbitrator and Jurisdiction of Arbitral Tribunal

3. RESPONDENT recognizes the jurisdiction of the Arbitral Tribunal and has no objection to the appointment of Ms Maracanã and agrees that the President of the Tribunal is to be appointed directly by CAM-CCBC.
4. RESPONDENT nominates as its arbitrator in this case Prof. Lena Chowdry, 25 Rue Nascimento, 23 OK 40 Rasunda, Mediterraneo. As Prof. Chowdry is not on the List of Arbitrators her résumé is attached.

Statement of Facts

5. In January 2010, RESPONDENT received a notice from Earhart SP that the company was planning a new signature line 100 executive jet and was looking for quotes for the engine for the jet. The notice contained fairly detailed requirements as to the performance of the engine. Particular focus was put on the low fuel consumption and noise reduction.
6. After some initial research it became clear to RESPONDENT that the requested specification could not be attained with any of its existing engines and the fan blades available on the market. Consequently, in Spring 2010 RESPONDENT contacted CLAIMANT to discuss with CLAIMANT the joint development of a new fan blade on the basis of CLAIMANT's newest model TRF 192. The new fan blade was to be included into RESPONDENT's new JE 76/TL14b to be developed for the Earhart jet.
7. At the time, both parties were still subsidiaries of Engineering International SA and had cooperated in two earlier projects. At the first meeting at the higher management level in May 2010 Ms Fang, the Development Manager responsible for the engine project on RESPONDENT's side, and Ms Filmas agreed on the basic principles for the cooperation of both parties. Ms Fang made clear that RESPONDENT had to agree already at that stage upon a price which could be used as the basis for a price offer to Earhart. Earhart SP, which was also negotiating with a second possible supplier, wanted to sign a contract for the engine in September 2010 with a fixed price. Ms Filmas insisted that due to the uncertain costs for the development of a new fan blade CLAIMANT could not submit to a fixed price yet. Finally, an agreement was reached to agree on a price range with different costs and profit elements and a maximum price which could serve as the basis for RESPONDENT's internal calculation of its offer to Earhart.
8. As a comparable model had already been used in their two earlier co-operations the Parties merely copied the price mechanism of the earlier contracts replacing the older prices and profit margins with the ones agreed under the contract. At the time of their previous co-operations, there had been no need for the parties to regulate explicitly the exchange rate as they belonged to the same group of companies. In the end, however, both times the exchange rate at the time of contracting had been used for the conversion of the cost elements.
9. It was clear for RESPONDENT that this should be the basis for the present cooperation as well. That was even more so, as in a meeting in November 2009 at the premises of Engineering International, which had also been attended by CLAIMANT'S CEO, it had been discussed that SantosD should be "de-risked" to make it more attractive to potential buyers (Respondent's Exhibit R 1). In this context the reduction of currency risk in existing contracts via the agreement of fix exchange rates had been explicitly mentioned. At the time there had been no ongoing contractual relation between the Parties, but it was obvious for RESPONDENT that the same should apply for newly concluded contracts. The mere fact, that Engineering International had decided in February 2010 to also sell CLAIMANT does not change anything in this regard.

10. Unfortunately, at the time when the Development and Sales Agreement was signed the Parties forgot to add an express provision as to the exchange rate to the model used. Given that the parties no longer belonged to the same group of companies and to avoid any future discussions on the applicable exchange rate RESPONDENT therefore insisted on having the exchange rate governing the whole contract explicitly regulated in the addendum to the contract. CLAIMANT did not raise any objections to such a provision (Respondent's Exhibit R 2).

Legal Evaluation

11. CLAIMANT's claim has to be rejected as not admissible as the arbitral proceedings were initiated too late.
12. Pursuant to Section 21 of the Contract the arbitral proceedings had to be initiated "within 60 days after the failure of the negotiation". The Request for Arbitration submitted by CLAIMANT on 31 May 2016 did not comply with the requirements of Article 4.1 and 4.2 CAM-CCBC Rules. Neither had Claimant paid the Registration Fee in full nor had it submitted a power of attorney for the arbitration. Consequently, the arbitration proceedings were only commenced on 7 June 2016 after the signed power of attorney was provided and the fee had been paid in full.
13. At that date the time limit for initiating the arbitral proceedings had already expired. CLAIMANT declared the negotiations to be failed on 1 April 2016 (Respondent's Exhibit R 3). Consequently, the arbitration proceedings had to be initiated by 31 May 2016 at the latest. That is apparently also the position of CLAIMANT as is evidenced by its letter of 31 May 2016 to the CAM-CCBC. CLAIMANT's efforts to commence arbitral proceedings on that day were, however, not successful as Mr Fasttrack even lacked any proper authority to do so.
14. RESPONDENT is also not prevented from relying on CLAIMANT's obvious failure to properly initiate the arbitration proceedings. What is required for the commencement of arbitration proceedings is clearly set out in Articles 4.1 and 4.2 and RESPONDENT has not prevented CLAIMANT from complying with these requirements.

Merits

15. CLAIMANT has no claims for payment against RESPONDENT under the contract, as Respondent has fully performed its payment obligations.
16. Under the Development and Sales Agreement and as stated in the first invoice sent with the blades RESPONDENT had to pay US$ 20,438,560 for the fan blades to CLAIMANT's bank account which RESPONDENT did.
17. Contrary to CLAIMANT's allegations RESPONDENT did not try to "take advantage" of an obvious mistake in an invoice but paid the price it was required to pay under the Development and Sales Agreement. The price for the fan blades is determined on the basis of Section 4 of the Development and Sales Agreement. CLAIMANT's production costs amount to EQD 19,586. Converted according to the fixed exchange rate governing the whole Agreement, which is specified - or agreed between the Parties - in the Addendum to the Agreement and adding the agreed upon profit that amount to a price of US$ 9,744.28 per blade. The fixed rate explicitly stipulated in the Addendum was to be applied for the whole Development and Sales Agreement and not only the Addendum as alleged by CLAIMANT (Respondent's Exhibits R 4 and R 5).

18. The 0.5% levy by the Central Bank of Equatoria for the examination of its Financial Investigation Unit under Section 12 Regulation ML/2010C has to be borne by CLAIMANT. It is not part of the ordinary bank charges for payments but based on a very specific public law regulation in Equatoria where CLAIMANT has its place of business. No comparable rule exists in Mediterraneo or any other country known to RESPONDENT. Had RESPONDENT been aware of the levy it would either have taken the levy into account in the price calculations or would have insisted on the inclusion of an explicit provision into the contract that CLAIMANT should bear this extraordinary charge arising from circumstances which are much more associated with CLAIMANT than with RESPONDENT.
19. CLAIMANT by contrast knew of the levy or at least ought to have known about it. Enquiries with other engine producers made by RESPONDENT after the initiation of this arbitration have revealed that the levy has been charged by the Central Bank already before on at least two occasions where payments had been made to CLAIMANT. In the first case, involving a payment of May 2010 by JetPropulse from Ruritania, CLAIMANT actually paid the levy and not the buyer JetPropulse. In general, the present situation is comparable to the much more frequent problem in relation to the seller's obligation to deliver goods that public law regulations at the buyer's place potentially affecting the conformity of the goods. It is now largely accepted that unless the parties have agreed differently the public law regulations at the seller's place of business are relevant for the conformity of delivery under Article 35 (2) CISG. The seller is not expected to know all public law regulations at the buyer's place of business unless the buyer actually informs it about such regulations. The same consideration must be applied to the obligation to pay the price. Thus CLAIMANT was either under a duty to inform RESPONDENT about the extraordinary levy known to CLAIMANT or to bear the costs for it.

In light of this RESPONDENT requests the Arbitral Tribunal

1. to dismiss the claims as belated;
2. to reject all claims for payment raised by CLAIMANT;
3. to order CLAIMANT to pay RESPONDENT's costs incurred in this arbitration.

Joseph Langweiler

Re De-risking contracts

Dear Colleagues,

Following the information of last week that our parent company Engineering International has decided to concentrate on its core business and intends to sell us and Drake Ltd, producing ship engines, a first meeting discussing details of the plan has taken place yesterday at the premises of Engineering International. The meeting was attended by myself, the CEO of Drake Ltd as well as the CEO's of all other subsidiaries of Engineering International with whom we had joint projects in the past, including the new CEO of Wright Ltd, Mr. Sacadura Coutinho.

One of the points discussed was the need to "de-risk" SantosD and Drake Ltd to make them more attractive for potential buyers. In particular, all currency risks contained in our contracts should be identified and be reduced. It was agreed that whenever these risks are contained in contracts with other subsidiaries of Engineering International, the relevant contract managers of our counterparts should do their best in helping us to reduce our risks, by either agreeing on fixed exchange rates, where the contracts provide for a floating rates, or by finding other hedging strategies which reduces our exposure to currency risks.

As Engineering International has a great interest in finding a buyer for SantosD we should make use of our strong bargaining position and should reduce the risks as much as possible.

Could I therefore ask you to identify all contracts with currency risks and report them to me no later than next Friday.

Sincerely,

Yan Malmesbury

Re Clamps

Dear Ms Beinhorn,

As already discussed we think the easiest way to regulate the purchase of the clamps is to sign an addendum to our Development and Sales Agreement and not to enter into a separate contract for the clamps.

I would suggest the following terms to be added by hand to the agreement.

Addendum

The Buyer may request the Seller to produce and deliver 2,000 clamps to attach the fan blades to the fan shaft. The Price for the clamps shall be on a cost coverage base and be paid in US$.

Other terms as per main Agreement.

The exchange rate for the agreement is fixed to US$ 1= EQD 2.01.

If these terms are acceptable to you, Mr Lindbergh could sign the addendum at his next visit to Wright Ltd on 26 October.

Sincerely,

Paul Romario

Re	Payment TRF 192-I
Dear Mr Lindbergh, I very much regret that our last offer was not acceptable to you and the outcome of yesterday's meeting shows that it is presently not possible to find an amicable solution. Consequently, we have instructed our lawyer to take the necessary steps to initiate arbitration proceedings against you. We had hoped to avoid such proceedings but your insistence of not making any further payments towards the agreed upon purchase price leaves us no other options. Should you reconsider your view I am always at your disposal and we remain open for any meaningful negotiations. Please take into account, however, that from now on the costs incurred for our lawyer must be part of any settlement reached. Dear Mr Romario,

Thank you for your email. I think your suggestion to link the agreement in regard to the clamps to the contract in regard to the TRF 192-I fan blades is a sensible one. I also agree to the fixed exchange rate.

The addendum will be ready for Mr Lindbergh to sign when he visits Wright Ltd. Sincerely,

Witness Statement

Paul Romario

I am the present CEO of SantosD KG and in 2010 was in charge of negotiating the Development and Sales Agreement between the Parties, though some of the negotiations were done by the members of the development team for the engine JE 76/TL14b, in particular Ms Celia Fang. For us it was important that we could, already at that time, make a largely binding price offer for the engine JE 76/TL14b to Earhart SP. At the time Earhart was negotiating with a second possible supplier and put great emphasis on a binding quote. To give such a quote was only possible if our suppliers, including Wright, were already in agreement on a maximum price even if the components still had to be developed. On the basis of the maximum price we then calculated what the engine would cost in a worst case scenario and made a price offer which was slightly below that price. Taking into account that it would be very unlikely that the worst case scenario would materialize we hoped to make again with the engine. For us it was very important to be the provider for Earhart, which we could then use as a reference and marketing tool for the new generation of our engine. Thus, we were willing to take the risk that we would incur a small loss in the very unlikely event that for all components the worst case materializes.

After the conclusion of the main agreement it became clear that we would also need clamps from CLAIMANT. Furthermore, I had just realized that the price clause which we had used already for our two previous co-operations (TRF 163-I; TRF 150-II) did not include an express statement as to the applicable exchange rates. Under the old contracts the lack of an explicitly stated exchange rate had not been a major issue because CLAIMANT and RESPONDENT belonged to the same group of companies. Furthermore, the exchange rate between the US$ and EQD had hardly changed over the last three years. After the sale of both Parties to different owners the exchange rate could, however, become a major issue as the present disputes shows. The exchange rate has a strong influence on who would bear the currency risk and lack of clarity always entails the risk of opportunistic behavior, of a party subsequently contesting an implicit understanding which has not been made explicit.

Therefore, I insisted on the last sentence of the addendum which in my view could not be clearer. For me it was clear that the exchange rate would apply also to the fan blades. I cannot say whether CLAIMANT's negotiators had the same view. If not, they should have said so and not let us believe that the exchange rate applied to the complete contract.

In principle, the now express solution merely spells out what had already been the understanding of the parties when they entered into the Development and Sales Agreement but merely did not mention explicitly. It reflects the practice between the parties during their two previous co-operations for the TRF 163-I and the TRF 150-II. In calculating the price for the fan blades developed under these two contracts the Parties always applied the exchange rate at the time the contract was concluded.

Wright v. SantosD

Request for Security for Cost

Wright Ltd

Oceanside
Equatoriana

- CLAIMANT -

Represented in this arbitration by Horace Fasttrack

SantosD KG

- RESPONDENT -

Represented in this arbitration by Joseph Langweiler

Request for Security for Costs

- 1 RESPONDENT requests the Tribunal to order Claimant to provide security for the costs RESPONDENT is likely to incur in this arbitration. The amount ordered should secure the advance on costs which RESPONDENT has to pay to the Tribunal as well as RESPONDENT's legal costs for the services of Mr Langweiler and expenses likely to be incurred for the oral hearing for witnesses and experts. Upon a first estimate and taking into account the amount in dispute the legal cost will amount to a minimum of US$ 200,000 but will probably be higher.
- 2 As stated in greater details in the Answer to the Request for Arbitration, CLAIMANT's claims lack any factual and legal basis. They will therefore be rejected by the Tribunal which will have to render an award on costs pursuant to Article 10.4.1. CAM-CCBC Rules in favor of RESPONDENT. It is, however, very likely that CLAIMANT will not perform this award on costs in favor of RESPONDENT. In January 2016 CLAIMANT has been ordered by another tribunal acting under the CAM-CCBC Rules to pay to one of its suppliers US$ 2,500,000. CLAIMANT has neither challenged the award nor has it complied with it. Upon the request of this supplier pursuant to Article 11.2 CAM-CCBC Rules the CAM-CCBC has disclosed that fact to the Chambers of Commerce in Equatoria and Mediterraneo on 4 September 2016 [Respondent's Exhibit R 5]. CLAIMANT's behavior evidences first that it is not intending to comply with award rendered against it.
- 3 Second, the non-compliance with the payment order raises serious doubts as to CLAIMANT's financial situation, as is evidenced by the article in the Carioca Business News. The usually well informed author furthermore reports of CLAIMANT's apparently unsuccessful efforts to obtain outside funding for this arbitration.
- 4 These efforts were not known to RESPONDENT which otherwise would have requested the interim order for security for costs already in its Answer to the Request for Arbitration. Such concealment of its true financial situation seems to be a business practice of CLAIMANT. At the time CLAIMANT and RESPONDENT were negotiating their original contract CLAIMANT created the impression that an award for a major compensation of at least a US$ 100 million was imminent in its arbitration proceedings with the government of Xanadu. Notwithstanding that the final award was rendered three weeks before the contract with RESPONDENT was signed, CLAIMANT never informed RESPONDENT about the outcome of the arbitration though the award was well below what CLAIMANT had expected. The UNCITRAL Rules on Transparency require that awards should be made available to the general public. Even if the Rules on Transparency might not have been directly applicable to the arbitration with Xanadu or this arbitration they evidence a general trend to transparency in arbitration. Thus, RESPONDENT which was entering into a long term relationship with CLAIMANT could expect to be informed about the outcome of the arbitration given its financial importance.
- 5 The requested order for security for costs is necessary to efficiently protect the rights of RESPONDENT.

Turbulent times: Equatorian Producer of jet engine blades in bad weather?

On a press conference of 2 September, the Head of the Chamber of Commerce in Oceanside, Equatoriana confirmed that the Chamber had received on 1 September 2016 a notice from CAM-CCBC, one of the leading arbitration institutions in South America that the Equatoriana based fan producer Wright Ltd had not complied with an arbitral award ordering it to pay US $ 2,500,000 to one of its suppliers.

The message refuels concerns about the financial situation of Wright Ltd. In 2010 Wright had to close down its local subsidiary in Xanadu due to an alleged non-compliance with local regulations. The trustee appointed by the local authorities had subsequently sold the production facilities to a group of local investors. As a consequence, Wright had brought an investment claim against the government of Xanadu alleging that governmental officials had conspired with local competitors to take possession of the very profitable subsidiary and its production facilities. The arbitration had been funded by Finance You, a well known third party funder of investment claims. As was only disclosed in the beginning of 2016 the arbitration had resulted in an award in 2013 in favor of Wright ordering the government of Xanadu to pay 12 million in damages for the de facto expropriation of Wright Ltd. The amount was, however, only a fraction of the US$ 203 million allegedly claimed by Wright. At the time the spokesman of Wright did not want to comment on the outcome of that arbitration which had resulted in a serious drop in the values of Wright's shares.

Carioca Business News has been informed by persons close to Wright that there was another arbitration initiated against a foreign customer for which Wright had approached several third party funders. Apparently, none of them had taken up the arbitration. Questions by Carioca Business News of why that was the case to the funders and Wright remained unanswered.

Dear Mr Forbes
Dear Members of the Arbitral Tribunal

CLAIMANT objects to the RESPONDENT's request for security for costs.
First, the request was made after the Parties and the Tribunal had already agreed on the Terms of Reference.
Second, RESPONDENT has not submitted any facts which would justify the requested order let alone proven the need for such an order. In international arbitration security for costs is normally only granted in exceptional circumstances. No such circumstances have been proven by RESPONDENT. CLAIMANT's financial situation has not unexpectedly deteriorated since the time the parties entered into the contract (Claimant's Exhibit C 9).
Also none of the other issues raised by RESPONDENT justifies the granting of interim relief.
CLAIMANT has not complied with the award in the other CAM-CCBC proceedings as the award creditor owes an even larger amount to CLAIMANT's parent company as damages for the delivery of non-conforming goods. The claim is presently being litigated in the courts of Ruritania and any sum awarded will be set off against the award.
Any lack of funding has been caused by RESPONDENT who had not paid the price due under the Development and Sales Agreement.

Sincerely yours,

Horace Fasttrack

CLAIMANT's EXHIBIT C 9
Witness Statement Iliena Jaschin

I have a background in finance and am since 2009 the Chief Financial Officer of Wright Ltd. I deliver this witness statement after having read SantosD's Answer to the Request of Arbitration and its Application for Security for Cost. Both give a wrong impression of the facts which I would like to correct.

The financial situation of Wright Ltd has not changed substantially or unexpectedly between the conclusion of the Development and Sales Agreement in 2010 and the initiation of these arbitration proceedings. For companies of the size of Wright Ltd the development of a new fan blade is normally associated with a considerable financial effort largely depleting the freely available financial means. Once the sale of the newly developed fan blades starts liquid means are built up again. Consequently, our search for outside funding of this arbitration or insistence on quick payment is normal as we have just developed a new generation of fans. The situation was identical to that in the first month of 2010 where we had also a strained liquidity situation. The infusion of liquidity in the amount of EQD 1.5 million through our then parent company had been one of the conditions of the purchaser of Wright Ltd. It was, however, reflected for the first time in the balance sheet for the year 2010 published in February 2011.

Equally, our claim against the Government of Xanadu was reflected in our 2010 international balance sheet with US$ 15 million which we considered to be very conservative at the time. It may well be that our CEO or other persons of the negotiation team had given different expectation to the general public or RESPONDENT, but the balance sheet always only included the claim with a value of US$ 15 million which is not too different from the amount finally received.

Last but not least Mr Romario's description of the previous contracts is not completely correct. In fact, under both contracts the exchange rate at the time of contract conclusion was applied to convert the costs incurred into US$. Both times that has, however, been the result of discussions at the time of payment. In one case it did not really matter, as the exchange rate at the time of contract conclusion was identical to that of the time when the costs were incurred and that when payment was made. In the other case, concerns of liquidity management in the Engineering International SA group led to the decision in favor of applying the exchange rate at the time of contract conclusion.

Before signing the addendum Ms Beinhorn had asked me whether we could agree for the clamps to a fixed exchange rate. Given the limited size of the contract I agreed. In light of that request I am convinced that Ms Beinhorn would not have agreed on a fixed rate for the fan blades.

Dear Colleagues,

Please find enclosed Procedural Order No 1 in the above referenced arbitration proceedings.

Both Parties are requested to comply with the orders made and the Arbitral Tribunal reserves the right to draw negative inferences from any non-compliance with any part of Procedural Order No 1.

Yours sincerely,

Ronald O Zagallo
President of the Arbitral Tribunal

Encl.: Procedural Order No 1

CAM-CCBC Arbitration
Procedural Order No 1

7 October 2016

1. After its constitution and receipt of the file from CAM-CCBC the Arbitral Tribunal had agreed with the Parties on 22 August 2016 on Terms of Reference and signed them.
2. Shortly thereafter Respondent has submitted its request for security for cost on 6 September 2016 to which CLAIMANT has replied in its submission of 16 September 2016.
3. The Arbitral Tribunal takes note of the facts that
 - Neither Party challenges the jurisdiction of this Arbitral Tribunal in principle but RESPONDENT contests the admissibility of CLAIMANT's claims.
 - Both Parties agree that the cost statements in Equatorian EQ which have been submitted by CLAIMANT and which formed the basis for both Parties' cost submission are correct and only the applicable conversion rate is disputed between the Parties.
 - The Parties are in agreement that the information as to the exchange rates given for the various points in time is correct and that for calculation purposes rounded figures have been used.
 - RESPONDENT has agreed that the submissions on Security for Costs will be made jointly with the submission on the merits after CLAIMANT's chairman has provided a personal undertaking that CLAIMANT would provide security if so ordered by the Arbitral Tribunal.
 - Neither Party challenges the veracity of any of the documents submitted or the authority of the persons who have signed them.
4. Both Parties have agreed in a telephone conference of 6 October that a final decision for costs may be reserved for a separate award.
5. In the light of these agreements and considerations the Arbitral Tribunal hereby makes the following orders supplementing the Terms of Reference:

(1) In their next submissions and at the Oral Hearing in Vindobona (/Hong Kong) the Parties are required to address the following issues:

- a. Does the tribunal have the power and, if so, should it order CLAIMANT to provide security for RESPONDENT'S costs?
- b. Are CLAIMANT's claims admissible or have they been submitted out of time?
- c. Is CLAIMANT entitled to the additional payments from RESPONDENT in the amount of
 - i. US$ 2,285,240.00 for the blades based on the present exchange rate?
 - ii. US$ 102,192.80 for the fees deduced by the Central Bank.

The Parties are free to decide in which order they address the various issues. No further questions going to the merits of the claims should be addressed.

(2) For their submissions the following Procedural Timetable applies:

- a. Claimant's Submission: not later than 8 December 2016
- b. Respondent's Submission: not later than 26 January 2017

- (3) The submissions are to be made in accordance with the Rules of the Moot agreed upon at the telephone conference.
- (4) It is undisputed between the Parties that Equatoriana, Mediterraneo and Danubia are Contracting States of the CISG. The general contract law of all three states is a verbatim adoption of the UNIDROIT Principles on International Commercial Contracts. Danubia has adopted the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Arbitration with the 2006 amendments.
- (5) In the event Parties need further information, Requests for Clarification must be made not later than 27 October 2016 via their online party [team] account. No team is allowed to submit more the ten questions.
- (5 bis) For those institutions participating ONLY IN THE VIS EAST questions should be emailed to clarifications@vismoot.org.
